For Immediate Release:
January 30, 2018

Thank you to our attendees, exhibitors, and patrons for your continued success in making The Taboo Naughty but Nice Sex Show a continued success. In past years, our showcase has included live demos, seminars, and performances from industry leaders to give you a taste of the growing adult community. This year will be no different. In efforts to continue to create an innovative sex positive showcase, we are addressing a performer feature concern, to make sure all attendees enjoy their time at the expo, this weekend.

Due to earlier communicated circumstances, CHRISTY MACK will not be in attendance at the Vancouver Show, February 2-4 2018. We had gone through the efforts in ceasing to circulate and removing any promotional material in our direct access, at the time of communication. It has come to our attention that some of our attendees have not been informed of the booking change and may be under the impression that Miss Mack will still be in attendance.

While Christy Mack and her team will always be welcome at Taboo, we are formally addressing her team's previous communication, and reiterating that Miss Mack will not be in attendance this weekend. We are in the process of addressing all advertising to best reflect this adjustment, and we apologize to our patrons for any confusion caused by the delay in formally announcing the change of booking.

Thank you for your continued support!
